

Christian Educators Resource Center

---

Special Needs Students Policy

Christian Educators Resource Center (CERC) does not discriminate against children with learning differences or serious disabilities. However, we may not be equipped to meet the needs of certain disabilities or special needs. Out of consideration to our teachers and other students, CERC asks that parents inform their teachers in advance of any learning differences or special needs your child may have. In certain cases, the CERC Board may meet with the parents and teachers to determine what would be in the best interest of CERC, the teacher and the student in question. CERC reserves the right to deny enrollment upon such consideration. A parent of a special needs student may be required to be on campus while their child is there.